Thursday is chapel day at Mt. Vernon, otherwise campus life would be the constant sameness as any other weekday. From that first period class until the last, the academic day moves on . . . Today . . . the clock rings . . . brring . . . at exactly 8:45 the teachers greet our wide awake faces . . . alert and perceptive . . . then gradually everyone loosens up and we begin to smile again . . . laughter . . . voices at 11:35 the mad dash for mail and then to lunch . . . grrr . . . our stomachs are always empty. After lunch there are usually a few minutes before chapel until we dash down to Lloyd hall again for another Thursday chapel . . . singing . . . admonishing . . . and singing again . . . “To The Field” is the most likely place to find someone after the service or just sitting on the house steps talking. Still, there are afternoon classes until we can return to the dorms and begin again!

ACTIVITIES

JUDICIAL BOARD

This year a Judicial Branch was added to Mount Vernon's student government. It is controlled by the newly formed Judicial Board, which is composed of eight elected members.

It is the duty of the Judicial Board to deal with all social and academic infractions of the Honor Code and to build a strong respect for the Honor Code, in order that the entire system will prevail.

HOUSE PRESIDENTS COUNCIL

The purpose of the House Presidents Council is to coordinate the rules and regulations between the resident houses and the day students. It also makes recommendations to the Cooperative Council in regard to the house government and other house activities. The Presidents and Vice-Presidents of the four residence houses, the day student President, and the President of the Student Body are the active members of this council.

COOPERATIVE COUNCIL

The main link of cooperation between the students and the faculty is constituted by the Cooperative Council.

This year the Cooperative Council reviewed the Honor System and considered specific proposals of students for change and for new legislation. The Council is presided over by the President of The Student Body. Open meetings are held every week, thus giving each individual the opportunity to contribute ideas for a more successful Student Government at Mount Vernon.

This year the membership has increased to four with Talmadge Hinkle as President and Mrs. James Eckert as faculty advisor.

SOCIAL LEAGUE

The committee consists of a President and a Freshman and Senior representative from the day students and resident houses. Their faculty advisor this year is Mrs. Douglas Coster.
